Proudly presented by Ice Alaska

February 16 - March 31, 2026
Fairbanks, Alaska | icealaska.com

MISSION STATEMENT

Ice Alaska's mission is to promote artistic and educational endeavors using ice, snow, and other media, enhance international friendships through cultural exchange, and preserve and display the heritage of all cultures in ice and other media. We aim to promote Alaska's winter activities and encourage tourism and economic opportunities through our family friendly event.

QUICK FACTS

In 2026, the World Ice Art Championships will celebrate its 35th annual competition, which is the largest ice sculpting competition in the world. This event takes place outdoors under extreme winter conditions in Fairbanks, Alaska where sculptors carve around the clock to finish their magnificent pieces in a limited amount of time. Artists have worked in temperatures anywhere from 40 above to -40 below.

DID YOU KNOW?

The multi-block competition uses at least 36,000 pounds of ice with each block of ice weighing at least 4,000 lbs. Such gatherings date back to the thirties when residents emerged from the long winter with an eye for having some fun. With the advent of airline transportation, visitors from all over the world can join the celebration. In the past an average of 35,000 viewers come from around the world to see this amazing event. The result is over 60 competition sculptures and exhibition pieces as well as the ever-expanding playful ice attractions in the Kids Park.

THE ICE ALASKA TEAM

Our annual event hosts 70 ice artists, representing countries from all over the world, including national celebrities from the United States. Veteran Artists from around the world volunteer their professional time and services to the World Ice Art Championships. Experienced Competition Officials monitor all aspects of the competition, while a Competition Logistics team keeps everything running smoothly. Many local and international volunteers contribute over 100,000 hours to the event, everything from building the ice park and ice skating rink, building a children's ice park, transporting artists, harvesting and transporting ice, and photography and live video production.

GLOBAL AUDIENCES

Independent travelers visit Fairbanks in February and March to experience the Northern hospitality of the World Ice Art Championships. Travel tours bring guests from North America, Europe, China, and Japan to the North to enjoy the art and beauty and to live their dreams.

THE PARTICIPANTS

Master and rookie artists from around the world participate. Last year teams from seven countries competed, including, Japan, Scotland, Portugal, France, Germany, the Philippines, and the US, as many as 45 countries have been represented in years past. The event attracts male and female artists who historically have ranged in age from 13 to 78.

Partnering in Magic

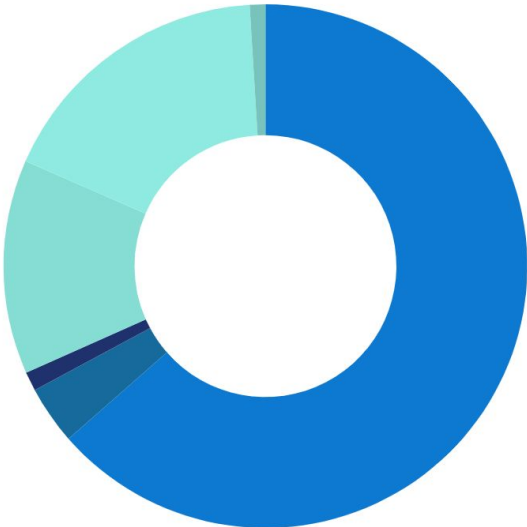

This year, the Ice Park had great success increasing our visitor numbers by 5,000 and reaching a half million dollars in ticket sales. After restarting the event at the Tanana Valley Fairgrounds in 2018 with almost nothing in the bank, this growth is an inspiring story of resilience showing the tenacity and passion of the artists, volunteers and the community to keep this event alive. We COULD NOT do this without the incredible support of our sponsors.

This last year we spent more than 600,000.00 dollars in our Fairbanks community to build the ice park and run the competition that draws thousands of visitors to Fairbanks each winter.

Your help will ensure our park has the funding it needs to:

- house and feed our artists and out of town volunteers
- rent, run, and maintain equipment to build the championship ice park
- pay necessary services, insurances, and administration
- put on one of the greatest ice sculpting competitions in the world
